Transforming classroom learning to community needs with SULAM p

16 December 2025

PEKAN, 6 December 2025 - Imagine an academic setting that goes beyond classroom environments, where learners are able to apply what they learn in the classroom to the community and society.

“EQ Connect: Express to Relate” was a one day event that allowed our students to express their ideas and relate them to the community and society.

This is what SULAM embodies, academic learning that allow learners to be responsible, active members of the community and society.
