Volkswagen and UMP form partnership to strengthen ties between

Universiti Malaysia Pahang (UMP) and Volkswagen Group Malaysia (VGM) signed a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) to mark a milestone in strategic initiatives between the world's biggest automotive brand and one of Malaysia's leading universities.

The agreement was signed by UMP's Vice-Chancellor, Professor, Dato' Sri Dr. Daing Nasir Ibrahim and VGM's Managing Director, Mr. Danny Auerswald in a ceremony held at UMP's Pekan campus on April 30, 2019.

Also present at the event were Deputy Dean Associate Professor of the Faculty of Mechanical Engineering, Dr. Zuki Nik Mohamed and Pekan Volkswagen Head of Pilot Hall, Nor Hayati Othman.

This partnership aims to boost advancement in the fields of education, research and technology, especially in the automotive industry, to develop a highly skilled and competent workforce in the country, with a focus on students mainly from electronic and programming streams.

This collaboration will see both parties working closely together as a platform to connect the automotive industry and academic researches.

It will also pave the way for various programmes such as exchange of staff, academic material as well as exchange of students, joint research and development, and the technical, engineering and vocational education (TVET).

VGM will be sharing its expertise, resources and knowledge on German engineering and its technologies that are used in the automotive industry.

As part of the agreement, Volkswagen Pekan Plant will be offering UMP students internship placements as well as a practical understanding of what is learnt in the classroom. There will also be workshops on new technology and innovations.

VGM's Danny Auerswald said that a collaboration such as this provides many benefits to both parties.

"We are very pleased to partner with UMP and we are looking forward to working closely with the students i

On the MoU, Professor Dato' Sri Dr. Daing Nasir said this partnership would help establish a sustainable vocational automotive engineering.

"This would help facilitate UMP students when seeking industrial training or job placements.

"UMP offers world-class engineering programmes, the dual-degree programme and the dual-masters' degree of Applied Sciences (HsKA) and Reutlingen University (RU)," he said.

Volkswagen's Pekan plant currently assembles four models sold in Malaysia - the Polo, Vento, Passat, and line-up of Volkswagen cars available in Malaysia, alongside the Golf family and the Beetle.

Jalan Yang Kalsom musical entertains theatre

Universiti Malaysia Pahang (UMP), in collaboration with the state's Department of Broadcasting, Radio Televisyen Malaysia (RTM) presented a solid musical performance on 'Jalan Yang Kalsom: Sebuah Muzikal' (JYKSM) on April 14, 2011. The musical performance highlighted the multi-racial residents at Jalan Yang Kalsom in Ipoh, Perak, circa 1970s.

The performance saw 60 production crew from the Senandika Theatre Group and Kencana Pawana Dance Troupe put up an interesting and entertaining show on the harmonious atmosphere of a multi-racial society in the 1970s. It is a present-day example and guideline to all.

According to Production Advisor, Noor Afiza Mohd Asmi, the original script was written by Syafiq Ziazan, a final year student of the Faculty of Mechanical & Manufacturing Engineering, while Theatre Director, Rizal Ali, who is a junior (Year 3 undergraduate) at the Faculty of Mechanical & Manufacturing Engineering.

"All the actors, dancers and even coordinators behind the curtain were UMP undergraduates, while Pahang State Broadcasters, Fatin and Fatin shouldered the master of ceremony and background voice-over tasks," said Noor Afiza, adding that Md Nor Shahar, was also on hand to ensure the successful production of JYKSM.

As for the musical arrangements throughout the show, they were jointly performed by UMP Culture Division and the latter's Music Director, Anuar Chacho. The staging of JYKSM saw successful rendering of two new songs and an Original Sound Track (OST).

Noor Afiza remarked that all the participating undergraduates showed high-level of commitment, having spent three months – in terms of editing the original theoric scripts into a musical performance, role-plays of characters, costume and wardrobe, among others.

"Actors also took on a challenging task in their selected characters and nurturing their roles, as well as ensuring the characters' actions according to the story line.

"On this note, we truly appreciate the support from UMP residents and the commitment displayed by several units including the Department of Sports & Culture, Department of Student Affairs & Alumni, Vice-Chancellor's Office, Department of Facilities, Department of Information Technology & Communications, Security Division and Bursary," she emphasized.

According to Aznorizamin Ismail, who presently shoulder the responsibilities of the Director of Center for Student Development, the students have shown their talents and capabilities of the undergraduates to put up a two-hour performance, especially when no prior stage management experience is involved.

"They are undergraduates pursuing studies in engineering and technology, and yet, they can also stage and manage a stage performance," he said.

Over 500 people attended the musical performance – including students from Sekolah Kebangsaan Seri Mahkota, who were invited to the performance. The entrance fees is charitably contributed to Casa Harapan Women & Children Nursing Centre.

Also present were Deputy Vice-Chancellor (Student Affairs & Alumni), Professor Dato' Dr. Yuserrie Zainal Abidin; RTM Pahang Deputy Director, Rida Suziwati Muda; and RTM Head of Channel, Jaya Brabu Balasubramaniam.

One of the theatre-goers, Al-Zahari Awang Samah, who is also an activist from Anggun Performing Arts in Kuala Lumpur, said that the students' performance was 'outstanding' and 'impactful performance, with strong acting, interesting props and a story line that matches well with the setting'. The audience were 'entertained'.

Sharing@BookCafe: 10 minutes spared to inculcate reading culture

In the continuous efforts to inculcate reading habit among campus residents at University Malaysia Pahang, 'Baca Bersama Untuk 10 Minit' programme under its Sharing@BookCafe activities.

The programme was conducted in conjunction with the celebration of the World Book & Copyrights Day on April 23, 2019. It was also a response to the call by and objective of the Ministry of Education (MoE) to the general public.

During the programme, which began at 11am, Deputy Head of Librarian, Siti Aishah Ghani, took the opportunity to share on the importance of reading and investment topics.

According to Siti Aishah, who also manages <http://blog.ump.edu.my/> at UMP, she would read at least three books a month and write a blog post on the book she wishes to review before blogging on it.

"To inculcate reading habit, we need to carry at least one book wherever we go, so that we can utilize any free time to read instead of letting time waste away," she highlighted.

"As a display of the university's commitment to the importance of reading throughout our lifetime, the Library will continue to organize such programme to encourage our campus residents and the surrounding communities," Siti Aishah remarked.

During the programme, five books were reviewed – among which were 'Revolusi Wang' by Alwi Adam; 'Ibu Bapa Boleh Jadi Kaya' by Zaid Mohamad; 'Panduan Pelaburan Unit Amanah' by Razali Razman; 'Panduan Lengkap: Pelaburan Saham' by Azizi Ali and 'Rich Swing Trading' by Azizi Ali and Bill Wermine.

According to Siti Aishah, 'Revolusi Wang' is a simple financial management book for school students to learn how to manage their money. 'Bijak, Anak Mewah' touches on tips and strategies on how parents can educate their children to be financially independent and manage their money.

She said the book on 'Panduan Pelaburan Unit Amanah' explains the fundamentals of unit trust investment in the Malaysian market. Potential unit trust investors are encouraged to read the book before making any investment.

Meanwhile, the reviews on 'Panduan Lengkap: Pelaburan Saham' and 'How You Can Get Rich' are recommended for readers who are looking for guidelines before delving into capital market investment. The enhancement on the subject matter.

According to Siti Aishah, based on her personal experience, potential investors should avoid indulging in investments already set aside for other financial commitments, like monthly instalments for housing and hire-purchase, to reduce the burden of financial risks.
